

Yunqiu Mountain

National 4A-class scenic spot

With a height of more than 1,600 meters and an area of 35 square kilometers, Yunqiu Mountain is also commonly known as “the north top” or “Kun Lun” in ancient times. With charming hills, lush trees, a variety of plants and unique natural scenery, the Yunqiu Mountain gains a reputation as “the Best Scenic Spot along Fenhe River”. Yunqiu Mountain is the birthplace of many national-level rare species, and the forest coverage rate is as high as 89%. The icy cave group in Yunqiu Mountain, with the most scientific research value and ornamental value, is one of the three icy cave wonders in the world and the largest natural icy cave group found in China.